Angelfish are loyal partners:

When angelfish choose a partner, it's for life! If one of them dies, the other one won't breed with any other mate in their entire lifetime.

As the largest animal on earth, the full-grown blue whale is so heavy, just its tongue can weigh more than an entire elephant- that means that it can be heavier than 7,000 kilograms!

Shark teeth can grow back for their entire life:

Shark teeth are not really teeth, but scales. Because of this, if they ever lose a tooth, it will just grow back.

This unique fish is incredibly difficult to spot. Once you see it, however, its huge head will surprise you, as it makes up 44% of its entire body!

Eating puffer fish can kill you

Poison only resides in part of the puffer fish' body, which means that it is not only edible, but also delicious. Be careful, though! If the chef doesn't cut the fish in exactly the right way, this delicacy will be lethal.

Some species of shrimp have symbiotic relationships with fish and corals. They clean parasites off fish's mouth, and protect corals in exchange for food.
